HealthWrights Needs Your Help

HealthWrights is in need of funding for our continuing work.

David Werner's CBR workshops around the world improve the lives of hundreds of children, such as Joarling. Until he attended David's workshop, Joarling, who has spina bifida, had never walked. With the help of a parapodium (a standing frame designed for walking) and parallel bars, he immediately began taking big steps. With crutches, he was soon able to walk all over town.

In addition to helping individuals like Joarling, HealthWrights assists CBR programs around the world through our newsletters and books, and, more recently, our narrated slide shows. Our last newsletter was mailed to 1800 subscribers in 130 countries. (For that newsletter, as with this one, a special donation was given for color printing, preserving our general fund.) We have also put these newsletters and all our books on our website for free access. And other groups have distributed more than 15,000 additional copies of that newsletter on CD and through email. This multiplies the reach and impact of our work.

We are asking your help in three areas.

- 1. Cash. Any amount will be a great help. To donate, please see other side of this page.
- 2. Donors. Please let us know of any persons, organizations or foundations that might be willing to fund our work.
- 3. Your estate. Please consider including HealthWrights in your estate planning. Just a few gifts of capital or property can help its important work continue into the future.

NEW! Three New CBR Slide Shows on CD/DVD

In November, David Werner visited India where he conducted CBR workshops in three regions. These workshops provided material for three new extensive slide shows, each narrated, detailing the interactive process of the workshop participants, the disabled individuals, and their families. These heartwarming, yet pragmatic stories show how, by working together and putting the disabled person at the center of the process, assistive devices can be tailor made to better fit his or her needs. Order the CD or DVD from the other side of this flier.
